

Journey Wilder Privacy Policy

According to the General Data Protection Regulation (2016) personal data is “information that relates to an identified or identifiable individual”. This Privacy Policy aims to explain the data that Journey Wilder collects and how and why we do so.

What information is collected?

- Name
- Contact details (address, phone and email)
- Emergency contact (names, addresses and numbers) – this will only be used in an emergency to ensure your safety and well-being
- Health considerations/additional learning needs – this allows us to adapt to your needs and ensure the safety of all our clients
- Comments, feedback and reviews

How is your information collected?

Your information is collected when you conduct a transaction on our website, sign up for our newsletter or arrange a booking by completing a booking form.

When someone visits our website, we use analytical tools to collect details of visitor behaviour and patterns to help improve our services.

How is your information used?

The data outlined below is collected for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes and is not further processed in a manner incompatible with these purposes.

- To provide and operate our Services.
- To provide our Users with ongoing customer assistance and technical support.
- To contact Visitors and Users with general or personalised service-related notices and promotional messages.
- To create statistical data to provide and improve our respective services.
- To comply with any applicable laws and regulations.

Access

Last Updated 03/07/24

You are welcome to view all data related to you and request its amendment or deletion. Please email journeywilderadventures@gmail.com

Changes to the Privacy Policy

As a business focusing on personal development, we learn and improve wherever possible. Therefore, we reserve the right to change this Privacy Policy without notice. The most up to date version will be published on our website.